Accounting Principles Quiz and Test AccountingCoach

For example, a large company might purchase a $300 digital camera to be used for the next five years. The matching principle would call for an expense (depreciation) of $60 per year for five years. Most accountants would violate the matching principle and expense the entire $300 in the year it is acquired. The rationale is that the decision makers would not be misled by the small differences of $240 in the year purchased and $60 per year in each of the following four years.
