Camera Memory Speed - What is the fastest memory card for ...

External memory card readers allow high speed transfers between memory cards and computers. Many readers support USB 3.0, which is capable of 500 MB/s transfer speed. These readers are also backwards compatible with USB 2.0 connections and devices. USB 2.0 limits transfer speed to about 35 MB/s maximum throughput. Devices with internal card readers (laptops, monitors, etc.) may also be limiting due to using a slower USB or PCI bus.
